Prettyman Prayer Report

LEAVE 2 CLEAVE CONFERENCE

We are so grateful for your effective prayers; God worked wonders! Of the 22 couples that were invited, 21 came. It was really more wonderful than we hoped it would be. Christine and I had so much fun playing the "Love Police," threatening to handcuff the couples who spent too much time apart. It was so fulfilling to work side-by-side with my beautiful bride. Selah helped the cooking team, Micah played some romantic pieces on the guitar at the banquet, and our little guys Ezra and Joshua were the best guards anyone could ask for. God heard your prayers for good weather and the least amount of distractions that could be expected from 9 babies!

Cream&Sugar Banquet: During this special banquet, we placed one cup of black coffee before each couple and asked them to take a sip. "Is it sweet or bitter?" They all answered "It's bitter." I explained that because marriage is joining two selfish people in a sin-cursed world, marriage is by nature just like that coffee. I compared sharing one cup to the fact that marriage is the joining and enjoying of one life. If it's bitter, it will be bitter for both of them. We had placed a small glass cup of sugar and a cup of creamer on the table and instructed the men to take the sugar while the wives took the creamer. I then explained that sugar represents love and the creamer represents submission. Cream can really take the edge off of coffee and make it smooth. Sugar can make coffee sweet. So we told each spouse that it was their choice whether or not to add their ingredient into the coffee. I think you can fill in the rest!

It was fun and they got it. Even if your spouse refuses to add their ingredients into marriage, it will still taste better if you add yours!

The Resolution: Many gave testimonies with tears of how the teaching challenged them and gave them hope for a transformed marriage. We spent time teaching them how to use the marriage discipleship tools, and they seemed eager to start more focused ministries to the married in their churches. Pastor David did a tremendous job presenting the "Resolution" which detailed our commitment to follow the Bible over culture in the realm of marriage. The response was electric and seemed real! I am not sure, but I think it's the first time they ever heard anything so radical. Pray that they will follow through. I have already received multiple requests to travel to their churches and present this material to their people. Please pray about that as well. Hope you enjoy the video below!
